

cisterns of self

fresh start free of shadow clean slate

new moon infused with protective, prosperous, positive energy whatever it is you are working towards, this new moon gives your efforts the lift they might need to get you there with greater ease.

when something makes logical sense and is structurally necessary, one should not waiver on it.

believe in the validity of your dreams, desires, and visions they begins with a feeling, knowing, or dream and the clarity to these things that seriously it's my honor to speak the truth.

commit more fully to telling the truth in the ways that I personally need to i allow myself the time and space necessary to recoup, regroup, and regather i know that resisting the urge to give up my time to what isn't fulfilling for me is one way to keep myself intact.

kelly ann ilseman