

Peace, Power, Light, & Love

My heart is driving, (crying?)
Raging happily against a sense of loss
(Longing...)
Before it has even happened.
The potentiality
Of not giving the gift -
Life itself, love itself,
Opens up an even greater possibility
Of love
For all humanity -
To love all the people
As brothers and sisters
The ones I've always wanted
As children
The ones I never had,
As family...
To want the expression of what is best for every Person on earth
The greatest biggest love of letting go
To that thing that is best for everyone
It is enveloping
Like a giant hug
Opening my heart as big as the moon.
Peace power light and love
Sending to the masses.
Connection complete.
All one.
I knew it all along, but felt it this time.
Can I keep feeling that massive love for everyone,
While still wanting what I can't have...?
Aparigraha. Ahimsa.
I'll do it in love – for my children who are not my children.
Because none of them ever really can be –
They're "life's longing for itself,"
And we are the guides.

Oct 11, 2013
kelly ann ilseman